ROOMS & SUITES

RENEWED ROOMS & SUITES

Recently redesigned, the guest rooms and suites offer a luxurious and elegant design that is blended with calming, neutral tones to create a sense of tranquility and wellbeing. The spacious and modern suites are positioned to offer panoramic views and iconic city sights.

The country's unique natural resources, precious materials, and outstanding craftsmanship are reflected throughout the hotel's renewed interiors, with a design direction that has been led by the natural and cultural richness that Russia has to offer. Light and sophisticated materials and colors give rooms and suites a timeless but modern finish, while molded ceiling and wall details are complemented by elegant accent furniture.

Inspired by a design concept that draws upon the Russian avant-garde, the Cube. Moscow art space has curated a selection of works by contemporary Russian artists, with predominant figures such as Elena Popova, Vladimir Semensky, and Lyudmila Konstantinova. In a complex but exciting selection process, Cube. Moscow considered over 1000 works from more than 40 artists. The Russian artists' works enliven and complement the hotel interiors by adding another dimension to the gorgeous decor of the rooms and suites they grace. From now on, guests can proudly gaze on the true pearls of the Russian contemporary art scene in the very heart of Moscow.

SARTORIA LAMBERTI

The first gastronomic atelier in Russia

Sartoria Lamberti is a unique gastronomic atelier located on the ground floor of The Carlton Moscow. Food and fashion are intertwined as closely as possible. As you enter the restaurant you are welcomed with a small studio in which a seamstress embroiders monograms on gifts. And here, next to it, is an open-air kitchen where the chef prepares classic and modern fashionable Italian dishes.

You can see exhibits of the Italian Fashion Museum on mannequins in shining showcases. Each year Sartoria collaborates with one of the best Italian tailors to create a collection of designer costumes for waiters.

NOVIKOV RESTAURANT & BAR

Panasian cuisine

As the sister restaurant to the London establishment of the same name, Novikov Restaurant & Bar at The Carlton, Moscow pairs striking design with dazzling culinary experiences. Dramatic aesthetics like the stained-glass window and open kitchen set the stage at this trendy bar in Moscow, while the menu follows suit with pan-Asian cuisine and sushi, more than 15 varieties of sake and a VIP room, which showcases an extensive whiskey selection.
